Pierce Against Improvements. We have already shown from the record, that FRANKLIN PIERCE and Wm. R. KING, the Dem occutic nominees for President and Vice President, have invariably voted, in Congress, against every bill for the improvement of Rivers and Harfore, and we have again and again invited our omries of the Pierce Press to point out, if measures. This invitation remains unanswered for the all sufficient reason that no such vote exists; but in place of acts, the Pierce press expect the people to be content with professions. They candidates ever show, indeed, that the favored can bill for River and Harbor Improvements, but they can and do claim that they would have done so, if these bills were kept within what that Franklin Pierce is committed, as well by his such bill, no matter how moderate in amount, or how patienal in character. With the rotes of Mr. Prenos on this question, our readers are already sufficiently familiar. It is matter of record that, while in Congress, he opposed and voted against every River and Harbor Light House, Marine Hospital, and Internal Improvement bill which came up, even including those which Gen. Jackson signed! It will be seen from the subjoined report, of a speech made by Mr. Pierce, no longer ago than last January, that these votes were given in conformity to his own cherished principle of uncompromising hostility to National Improvements by the General Government. The speech in question, was delivered at a public meeting held at Bradford New Hampshire, on the 23d of January last, which was addressed by Hon. GEO. W. MORRISON, Democratic candidate for Congress, and by the Hon-Franklin Presce, Democratic nominee for President of the United States. The reporter, Jacon S. Harver, thus sketched the rem risese distinguished embodiments of New Hamp-

The speakers, among other things, spoke of the improvement of rivers and harbors by the General Government, and denounced it as being Federal policy; and that Messrs. Hale and Tuck were justly chargeable with Federal sympathies for supporting such measures in Congress. Mr. Morrison, who preceded General Pierce in his remarks, after asserting the unalloyed Federalism of the measure in question, and of Messrs. Hale and Tuck for supporting them, stated that Demogratic delegations in Congress from this State had uniformly voted against these measures. He alluded to a bill recently before Congress, and said that the proportion for this State to pay under its provisions would be about fifty thousand dollars, and then asked what New Hampshire expected in return for this outlay.

visions would be about fifty thousand dollars; and then saked what New Hampshire expected in return for this outlay.

General Fierce followed Mr. Morrison, giving great prominence to this question. He endoused the remarks of Mr. M. respecting it, and said, in substance, that appropriations by the Federal Gorstonian and the principles and practices of the Democracy of this State; and that Messus Hale and Tuck were justly obnoxious to the charge of Federal sympathies for having supported such measures. He pointedly affirmed that no person elected to Congress as a Democrat from this State had ever supported measures for these purposes. He put the question to the audience if this were not so, and panied for a reply, which was given in the affirmative by some person near the speaker's stand. He then reaffirmed the position he had taken, and proceeded with his address.

The entire remarks of General Pierce on this subject were characterized by taken hostility to the River and Harbor Eills are repugnant to the rinciples and practices of New Ham nahire Demo racy , and that no man ever elected to Conress, as a Democrat, from the Granite State, had wer voted for such bills! When to this declaration is added the fact that the Congressional Records fully sustain Mr. Pierce in this averment, and that fney may be searched in vain, from beginning to end, for a single Democratic vote from New Hampshire, cast in favor of River and Harbor Improvements, must not that Western press be wilfully false to its duty, and that Western man recreant to his principles and regardless of his interests, who will stand up for, support and defend those arowed, unyielding and uncompromising opponents of Western Interests, Franklin PIERCE and WILLIAM B. KING?

One of the greatest objections urged against Gen. Cass was his committalism to that odious Law (the Rigilite Slave Law.) You as a whig, and the party, pronounced it an unjust and unlock Law, and a disgrace to the American rame. This was the ground occupied by the whigs in 1848. Repeat was their watchword, by right and by day. Fillmore was known as a haif way free soiler, and "Taylor was not sufficiently identified with the slave interests, to commit him, sole and body to the continuance of the Fugitive Slave Law."

Trumau Smith, of Connecticut, was bolsterously rude to Senator Walker, because, in the course of his remarks on the 17th inst, on the Harbor bill, he alluded to a circular issued by Smith, Mangam & Co., in order to nid Gen. Scott.

Let us see about this "boisterous redeness."-The scene occurred, not during the discussion on the Harbor Bill, as the Visconsin has it, but upon the Sault Ste Marie Bill. Mr. Smith advocated the appropriation of money to build this work, but opposed the grant of land as useiess. Mr WALKER took it upon himself to rebuke Mr. SMITH for his course on the question, and lugged in, very unnecessarily, a political squib, published several weeks since in the N. Y. Tribune, as a take off upon the Manifesto of certain Southern dissenters from Gen. Scorr's nomination. Mr. BADGER replied to Mr. WALKER, remarking that the

Mr. Douglas thought the Senator from Connecticut was fortunate in having the Senator from North Corolina to reply for him. If this letter was a hoar, he desired that the Senator from Connecticut, whose name was attached to it, should so declare it. He desired, also that the Senator should state whether it had not been franked by those whose names appeared to it, thus giving it the appearance of a genuine document. He wished the Senator to answer these questions.

Mr. Smith said that he occupied a seat in the Senator for the purpose of attending to the practical business of legislation; and when any Senator thought proper to introduce here the common blackguardism of the newspapers, he would treat it with silent contempt.

Mr. Walker admitted that he had violated the rules, perhaps, by introducing in debate a circular signed by the Senator. But he left bound to respond to the truth of the Senator's observation, in which he acknowledged that that circular was a base blackguardism. Mr. Douglas thought the Senator from Connec-onse blackguardism. The public will be at no loss to discover from the above that Mr. SECTH, justeed of being guilty of " boisterous rudeness," only treated with proper contempt the effort of Messis. Douglas and WALKER to lug into the debates of the Senate, unnecessary and irrelevant matters. We wish that other Senators would imitate his example. VALUEABLE STATISFICAL INFORMATION.-Mr.

Davis, of the U. S. Senate, has presented, in connection with his Steambeat Protection Bill, some interesting statistics relative to the const and interor steam navigation of the United States. It appears from these statistics that the whole number of steamers which have been built in the Valley of the Mississippi up to 1859, is 1656. Of this number, 786 were destroyed-168 by explosion, and 46 by collisions. The loss of property by the destruction of there vessels is estimated at

Our cotemporary of the Morning News labors

So, yesterday, the News republishes a long tissue of false statements and inferences from the Cleveland Plaindealer, reiterating these state asertions with all the unction peculiar to that unnothing but assertion—not giving the vote by suy means. It claims credit for superluman exertions to Messes Sameons and Courter Tourist and the proions to Messrs. Seymour and Cartter, Locos, for refting the bill to a vote without amendment, while it scolds sharply at sundry Whigs who wiehed to get more even-handed justice done to their reveral constituencies. Amidst the tirade against the Whigs, Messrs. One of S. C., and Ven-ABLE of N. C., are represented as, at a particular

It is as difficult, indeed, to speak in sufficiently strong terms of the degree of responsibility which attaches to the guilty parties and of the duty of the press and public authorities in the matter, as it is fully to conceive the horrors which clustered so thickly about the sinking steamer and cast so dark and deadly a pall over the blue waters of Erie. As more and more of the details now to show that this is a mere subterfuge, and come to light the deeper and darker is the reproach which rests upon the officers of the Atlantic. We speeches an by his votes, against any and every cannot, indeed, credit the numer which imputes to them the base and cowardly abandonment of their posts, while the steamer was still above water, and hundreds of her passengers waiting in valu for words of advice and encouragement from those whose duty it was to point out the road to safety and yet be the last to quie the sinking ship thomselves. DAILY SENTINEL.

et of the Atlantic's Surviving Passe We copy from the Detroit Tribune the following statement of the passeogers received on board the Sollona. It will be read with great interest:

We copy from the Detroit Tribune the following extensent of the passengers received on board ine Sastana. It will be read with great interest:

We, a portion of the survivors of the unfortunity steamer Atlantie, conveyed to our destination by the kind liberality of Gen. Chas. M. Reed, of Erie, who offered us passage upon the Key tenne State, Capt. Stone, commanding, which gentlemanly officer received us with the warmth and sympathy of a true heart; bolieving it to be a duty whach we over to the public, to present to them the facis that came under our observation, take the opportunity afforded by your columns, of giving our opinion of the cause and subsequent wester, connected with this disastrous calamity, knowing the many conflicting statement to be carred, to the best of our belief:

At the time of our collision, with the Propeller Ordensburgh, we were all in our State Rooms, and awaking rushed out into the Cabin, where all was soon in the most dreadful confusion, the lights making all bean put out by the Cabin boys and iteraty of "Fire" and "we are sinking." screams of women and children making the scene too heart-reading to discribe! A large portion of us sermined in our berths some moments after the collision, altho' awakened by the chock, yet hearing the Engine still in motion and no Bells being rung, or other instruction being given whereby we snight have been apprized of the calamity and the ewfint struggle in which we were so soon to be pracipated.

The total isexpacity displayed by the officers of the steamer to direct any method for the preservation of the lives of those placed under their care shown too clearly their unificant has been induling the position that these individuals occupied, who it was expected would be equal to any emitgency, hundreds were hunded for their preservation from a watery grave.

The Boats were of no benefit. The first was capacity of men holding the position that these individuals occupied, who it was expected would be equal to any emitgency, hundreds were than to my enti dred instances of the kind, some fifteen or twenty alone wold have been left to tell of the dreadful canestropiae.

We would call the attention of the public particularly to the fancied security which was offered to the passengers by the so called Life-Presorrers—stock with a tin pan under the sent, which unto many who trusted to them for preservation proved Life Destroyers.

We cannot speak out our indignation at the owners of the Boat, who those would wantonly tamper with human life. It was had enough at least for helplest persons to be forced into the waves in the hour of darkness, even if they were sucured of enfect by having a life-preserver, in their possession; but to this foolish contrivance many asserted, thereby neglecting to secure floating marrial that would have supported them.

We call it nothing but deliberate manelaughter for any man to suffer such useless things to be put upon a boat merely for the purpose of giving a fanciad security to the passengers.

Had Mr. Ward taken five hundred dollars from the gilding of the cabin, and purchased loses plank, which could have been piled upon the deck, or life preservers that would have been of some time, he would not have the deaths of over two hundred persons weighing upon his soul.—Thereican be no apologies' offered for the neglect is ad had it not been for the kind and everwatching Frevidence of God, who held us all in the hollow of his hand, we should now be in etercity.

watching frevidence of God, who held us nil in the holder of his hand, we should now be in etericity.

Had the engine of the Atlantic been stopped, as it should have been, there would have been but have gone some two or three miles from the propeller bad reversed her engine, which helped to wide a the distance. To the decision of the propeller had reversed her engine, which helped to wide the distance. To the decision of the propeller we owe our lives, who, siltiough his own boat was leaking badly, immediately returned to our assistance. As the Atlantic did not stop he supposed she had received no injury. He acted like a man and a true sailor, and we feel that to his coolness and decision we owe our lives.

We suppose that there was rising of 200 persons on the boat; and about one hundred of whom got can board the steamer Sultana. Our number making the halance of those saved were thrown upon the first homes and purses were tendered us, and no attentions were spared to contribute relief to our distressed condition. We must mention the names of Gen. Charles M. Reed, James H. Taylor, to Messra. Brown & Reed under boundless obligations.—Their homes and purses were tendered us, and no attentions were spared to contribute relief to our distressed condition. We must mention the names of Gen. Charles M. Reed, James H. Taylor, to Messra. Brown & Reeds Hotel, all of whom and numbers of others, threw open their doors ready to befriend us, only waiting opportunities. Mr. Warren supplied the whole company with hats from his store; and every one who came to see us, brought a bundle of such necessaries as they supposed we would be mused of, and they came as less as borses and carriages could bring them.
